“ Brendon I'm so sorry that this has happened to you and we may have not been talking in awhile but I loved you buddy and I want to thank you for giving me such a handsome, smart, loving grandson. We will always keep you in our hearts even my daughter's heart is broken right now and y'all may not have been on the best of terms but you gave her first child to her and she will always love and remember what y'all once shared. For the past few days she has not been herself and she just keeps telling me, "Mom it hurts so very bad that I just don't know how to feel," and she's done nothing but cry. I wish we could have at least told you goodbye Brendon but we NEVER knew anything had happened until the night they took you off of life support. You will now know the truth Brendon and you'll see what has really been going on from the other side. We love you buddy and we'll see you again someday so until then watch over us all but, especially, you and my daughter's child Elijah. RIP Brendon 🙏

“ Brendon’s little brother Tyzavion was my best friend a few years back. I met Brendon through him. The last 2 years Brendon and I got very close. He became one of my best friends, more than that I would call him a brother. I would go over watch OU play at his house, him and Tim would come over and watch the UFC fights at mine. And we would play Xbox every night after work talking for hours. Just last month Brendon, Tim and I got to go to an Oklahoma game in Norman. We spent the weekend down there even going and spending the day in Brick City. He paid for some of my meals down there, my ticket and hotel room because that’s just a kind of person Brendon is. I love, and miss you brother. Thank you for everything.
