“ Dear Lee, Angie, and Tony,

*I have such fond memories of Jeff.
I am not sure I liked classical guitar before or gingerly climbing around abandoned silver mines (careful to disturb nothing, take nothing, and leave only our footprints)
and I doubt it would have occurred to me to begin hiking Horn Peak at 2300 just to try to catch the sunrise from the top.*

He has seen the sunrise now ...with a perfect view. No mist, no clouds, no pelting rain.

*I am so very sorry for your loss of son and brother.
Cannot believe the world goes on without him.*

But June always tells me “the heavenly choir just got bigger.” And now has a beautiful guitar.

Until we all meet in glory.
