“ There is a profound comfort in knowing someone is always in your corner, and that is exactly who Uncle Rickey and Aunt Linda were for me. Some of my earliest, fondest memories are from living with him and my grandparents when I was just starting first grade. The photo of me proudly wearing the little girl jewelry he gave me is a treasure I will keep forever. Growing up, spending time around him while he built and worked on cars sparked a lifelong passion; he and my dad are truly the reason for my love of cars. Uncle Rickey, you are deeply missed, but I find peace believing that you and my dad are side-by-side again, finally enjoying the fast lane of eternity.
