“Ronnie and I have been friends what seems like for forever now. We use to enjoy working on just about anything together whether it be a vehicle or a building it didn't matter. But the other thing we liked almost as much was bickering at each other. I remember one time we were working on a big truck and got to arguing because as he said I like to think I know everything lol( probably true). But he got so darn mad at me he looked at at my and said Wendy I love you but go away so I wanted to know for how long cause he's kicking other people off of he's property and not let them come back. So I wanted to know he got so mad he turned beat red and told me to just get outside for awhile so that's what I was gonna do. But I guess I took to long so he said well he'll might as well just go smoke a cig and drink a beer now. Will miss you my ole friend love you always. Kyle I'm so sorry if you need anything fine me on fb.
